GOSPEL PUBLISHING MISSION

Joe and Gay Taylor
Directors of Gospel Publishing Mission

Transforming the World through the Written Word

In 1990, God used Joe and Gay Taylor to start Gospel Publishing Mission. Recognizing the power of the written word, the Taylors have published millions of books since their humble beginnings in Papua New Guinea.

At Hope International Missions, we believe firmly in the power of the printed page. Gospel Publishing Mission, HIM's department of literature development and distribution, does a tremendous job of producing excellent, attractive, easy-to-understand Christian literature because we realize that the written word matters! Through the printed page and other forms of media Gospel Publishing Mission continues to push back the powers of darkness.

In this video series you will hear from those who direct and work for Gospel Publishing Mission as they share how literature is making disciples of Christ around the world.
